

Genea Welcomes New Advisory Board Member Elizabeth Majkowski

IRVINE, Calif. – July 11, 2019 Genea today announced that Elizabeth Majkowski, LEED GA® CPM® RPA®, commercial real estate industry veteran and former executive at SL Green and Cushman & Wakefield, has been named to the company's advisory board.

"We're excited to welcome Ms Majkowski to Genea's advisory board," said CEO Michael Wong. "As a seasoned industry veteran with deep roots in New York City, Elizabeth will bring valuable experience and insights that'll help Genea continue its expansion."

Majkowski has extensive experience in the commercial real estate industry, having served a combined three decades at SL Green Realty Corporation and Cushman & Wakefield, Inc. Majkowski most recently held the position of director of sustainability and senior vice president, operations at SL Green Realty and oversaw commercial office, retail, and residential portfolio that consisted of more than 25-million square feet for New York City's largest real estate investment trust (REIT). Prior to that, she served as director for Cushman & Wakefield in the New York City region.

"With the recent additions of a number of iconic New York City properties to Genea's family of buildings, it's truly an exhilarating time to join Genea's advisory board and help propel their presence in the market," said Majkowski. "I look forward to bringing my industry expertise to Genea and be a part of increasing the company's standing as an industry leader in New York and beyond."

Majkowski joins existing advisory board members Brenna Walraven, former USAA Real Estate Company Managing Director, and Mike Latham, The Service Companies Chairman and CEO.
